Time // 15:00-16:00 AST

Location // Blue Zone,
Restoration Pavilion

Holistic landscape restoration is vital for managing drought and improving water access for agriculture, nature and communities. This event aims to promote large-scale restoration to combat land degradation, enhance resilience to drought and climate change, preserve biodiversity and strengthen agriculture and communities. Discussions will cover barriers to adoption, long-term planning for arid regions, and implications for freshwater bodies and environmental agreements, including lessons from the EU's nature restoration law.
